Climbing Mountains in Tibet October 10, 2005

A Memorial University professor is tackling some pretty steep mountain passes in Tibet. TA Loeffler is attempting to mountain bike the 1150 kilometres from Lhasa, Tibet to Kathmandu, Nepal. According to the latest entry in her online journal, Loeffler is about 500 kilometres into her journey. Along the way Loeffler has been hanging Buddhist prayer flags on each mountain pass she climbs. Loeffler left St. John's September 21st, and had hoped to finish the trek in 20 days.

TA Loeffler on a trip earlier this year to the Grand Canyon.
